We are searching for a

Lead Solution Architect (m/w) Deloitte Digital

Your challenges

- Lead and work collaboratively with developers inside and outside of the team
- Lead and participate on design and architecture of software solutions
- Oversee and support functional and technical requirements gathering
- Provide continuous feedback between business and IT architecture
- Reasonable decision making with respect to given circumstances. Our projects are challenging and very diversified, so it never gets boring!
- Manage tradeoffs between speed to market, quality and financial impact
- Reduce divergence loss with agile thinking and automation
- Work smart, efficient and keep you and our projects calm (got nerves of steel with creative touch?)
- Take care of incidents and resolve them in a suitable way (any between creative and rock-solid)

Your Profile

- Technical leadership and exposure across a broad scale of tools, technologies and architecture models
- At least 3 years experience in solution architecture
- A thorough grasp of agile and lean delivery concepts and methodologies, and a history of successfully applying this knowledge to manage small sized technical teams
- Strong mentoring skills and ability to grasp the capabilities of more junior developers and architects and guide them to achieving their goals
- Drive and determination to continually learn new things and develop yourself within a world class digital developer team
- Passion for digital and technology

Your Benefits

- Work hand-in-hand with our high-class international clients to apply the right solution
- Work alongside recognized experts and well educated teamplayers
- Principle of flat hierarchy and open door policy
- We value difference in our multicultural teams
- We boost and steer your career with internal mobility and advanced trainings
- We have flexible working arrangements
- Benefit from the support of a global organisation and network with decision making processes steered by the Austrian memberfirm

Annual gross salary from € 58.800,- (All In) depending on your academic background and professional experience. We offer competitive pay and a wide range of benefits.
